I believe in an open team-based knowledge-sharing environment. I like to exchange my knowledge and technical skills with other colleagues. I am a career-oriented person with a positive attitude and I take all criticism constructively. I have a passion for technology and I would have a great honour to work for any company that has a vision and mission, which I can be a part of. I have the ability to successfully and effectively execute and deliver the best of what I know and what I've learned. See less
